Huang Yuancan (Undergraduate Student)

CHINA

...Mexico is a country with ancient roots and strong institutions ... studying in this country gives me the great fortune to get to know and appreciate the oldest civilization in the Americas, to experience the vitality of its economic development and enjoy the bounty and friendliness of its people... In recent years, exchanges between China and Mexico have intensified in many areas. In fact, during my stay in Mexico I will strive to strengthen the bridges of friendship between our two countries.

Cynthia Saint-Jaen (Undergraduate Student)

HAITI

My experience in Mexico has been very rewarding in all the aspects of my life. Living in another country, learning Spanish, sharing with people from other countries and studying a universal nursing career have been some of the best experiences of my life... I decided to study nursing because it is a universal and humanitarian career.

Alphonse Bizimana (Postgraduate Student)

RWANDA

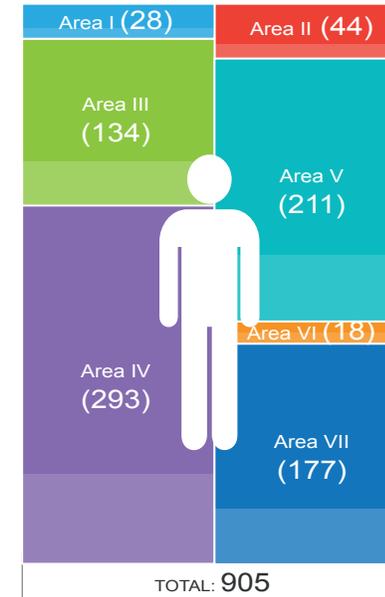

The academic and professional experiences that I acquired in Mexico helped me accomplish my duties as lecturer. In 2013, I decided to join again the Mexican academic system for a doctorate program in Statistics... I'm really satisfied by the academic experience I gained from Mexico.

Dr. Irum Mukhtar (Resercher)

PAKISTAN

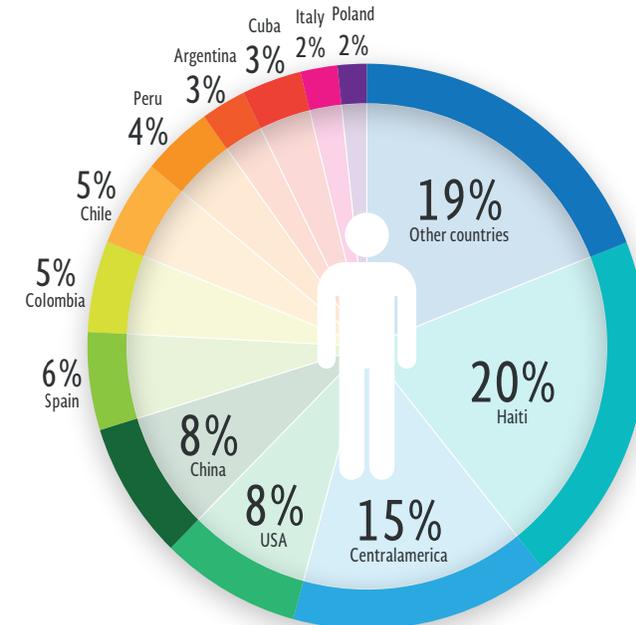

Mexican grants are one of the most prestigious and coveted scholarships for students from developing countries... From my point of view, the scholarship program of Mexico presents excellent opportunities to scholars from other countries to deepen their knowledge, learn new skills, work with additional resources and make networks to increase mutual understanding between Mexico and other countries. Thank you very much Mexico.
